CPS HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES AWARDED
MANAGEMENT, ORGANIZATIONAL AND BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT SERVICES (MOBIS) STATUS

CPS Now Authorized To Provide Human Resource Services to Federal Government

Sacramento, CA - As an authorized provider of services to the Federal Government, General Services Administration, and Federal Supply Services, CPS Human Resource Services can now provide quick turn-around of expert services to Federal Government agencies. This new status enables CPS to work with federal agencies without having to undergo an RFP process.

"It is our promise as a public agency to maintain a clear vision of our client's needs, identify new or emerging needs, and provide the expertise to meet those needs," said Pam Stewart, Co-Executive Director at CPS. "We look forward to providing our expertise to federal government agencies."

One such agency includes the National Institute of Health. During the next five years, the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases' (NIAID) staff is expected to grow significantly in response to increased bio-defense and immunologic research. CPS Human Resource Services is working to provide the Institute with the expertise and services to ensure the Institute is ready for this expansion.

"Working side by side with NIAID's management and staff, CPS has been able to quickly identify the business process improvements that would increase the Office's efficiency and effectiveness," said Gib Johnson, Senior Manager at CPS.

Services provided by CPS include: workforce planning, staffing support, testing, developing organizational structures to meet Federal classification standards, training needs assessments and employee relations support.
